

God Gave Me Mommy

Mommy and I play tic-tac-toe.
We fingerpaint and squish with dough.

We take our turns, and when we're done,
We giggle 'cause it's so much fun!

I'm glad God gave me Mommy.

We shop, and Mommy makes a game:
“How many colors can you name?”

A woven basket with a blue band, filled with several bright yellow lemons with green leaves.

Apples

A woven basket with a wooden handle, filled with several bright red apples with green leaves.

Grapes

A woven basket filled with a large bunch of purple grapes with green leaves.

I point to grapes—a purple bunch—
And bright red apples for my lunch!

I'm glad God gave me Mommy.
