JOINING THE SONG OF ALL CREATION

One frosty morning
wee Pippa swings high,
beneath an old tree
and a peppermint sky.

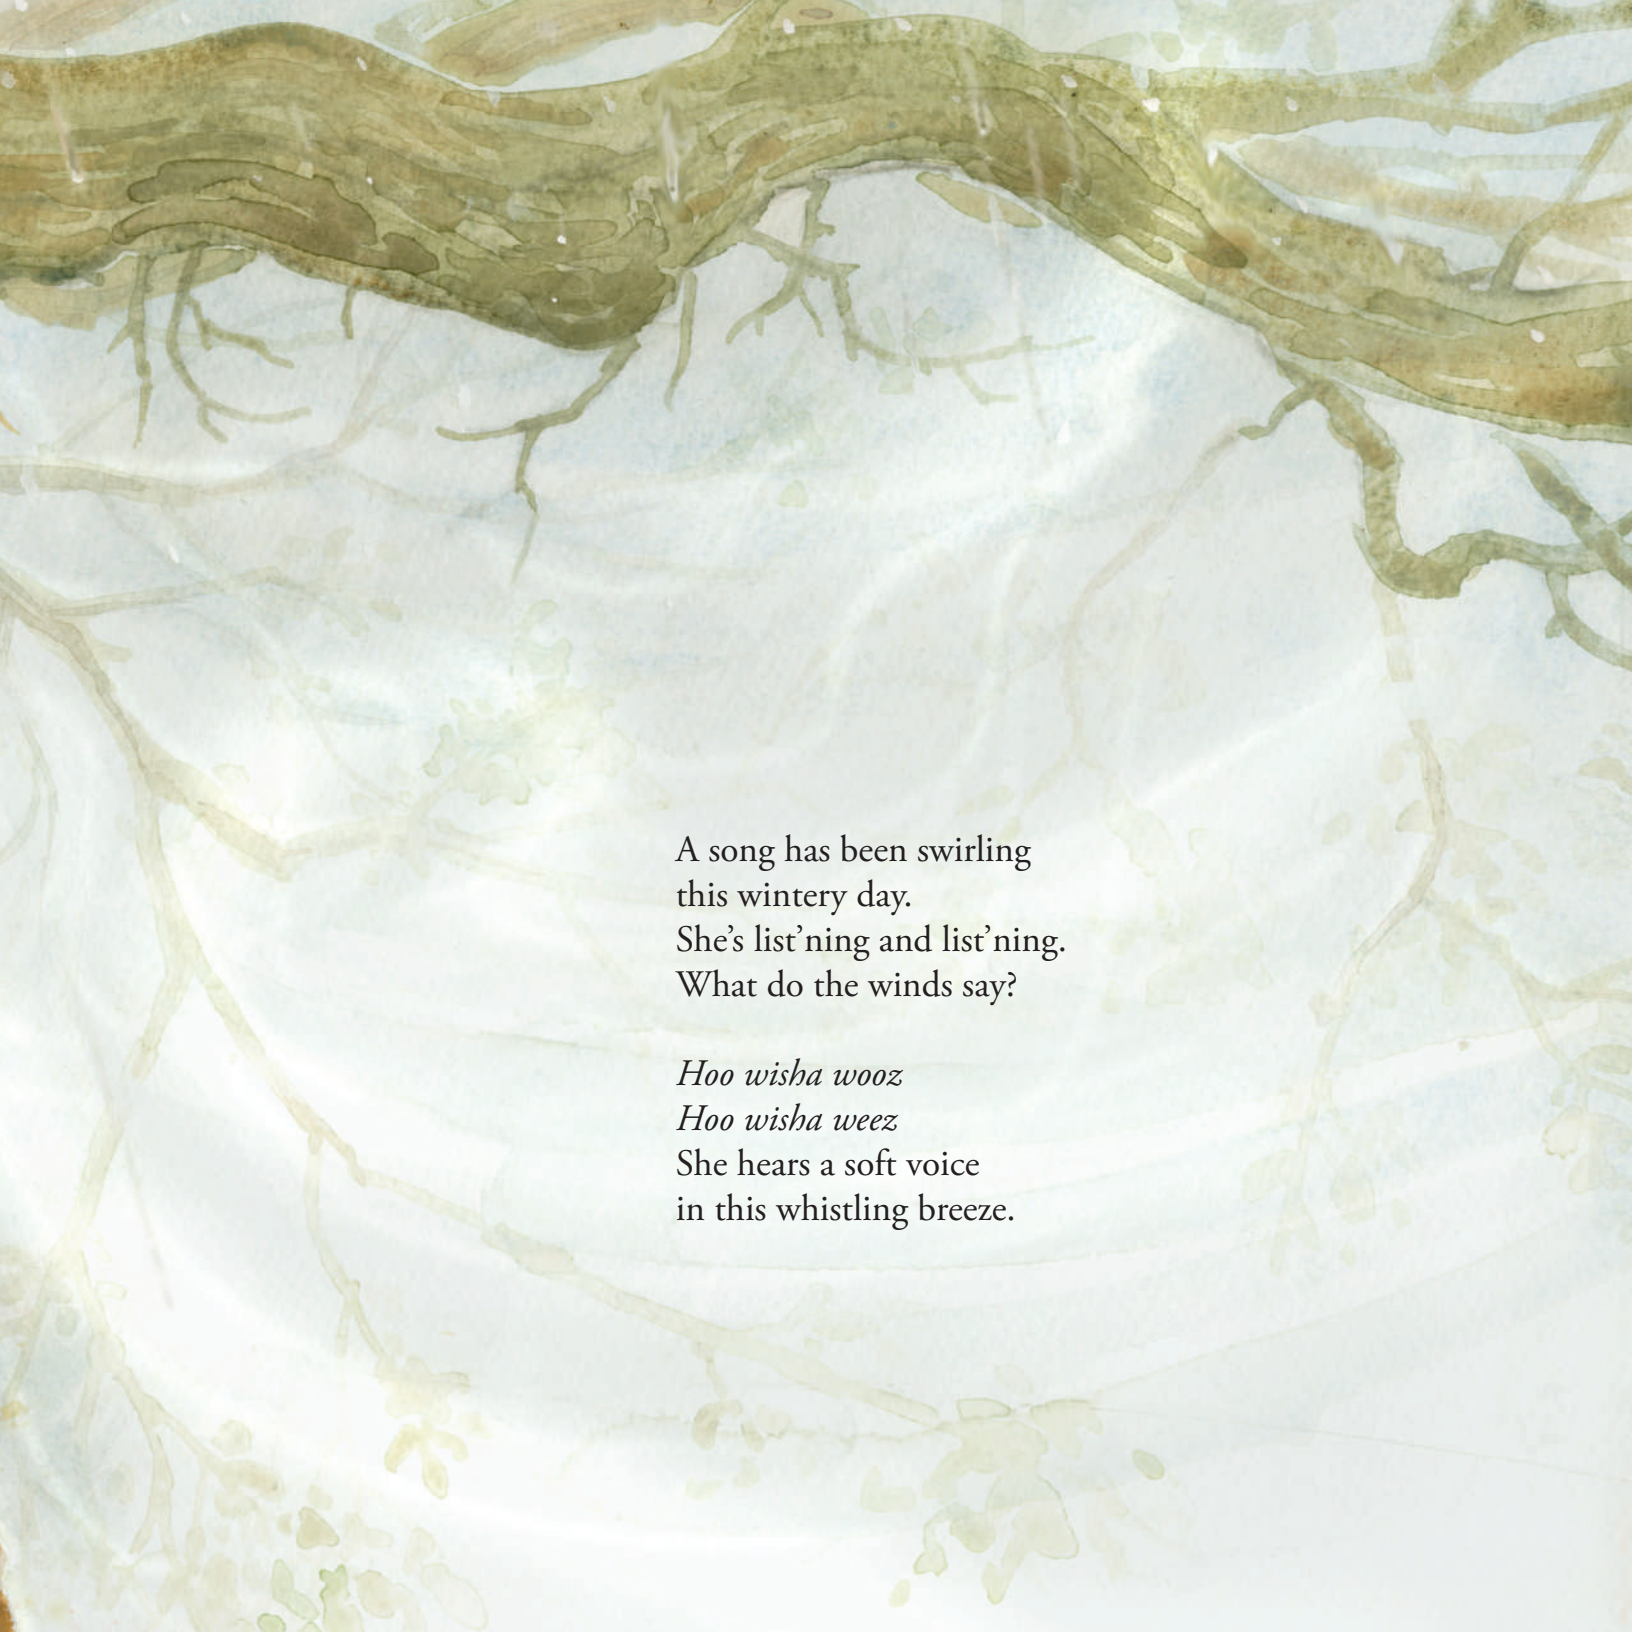

A watercolor illustration of a winter landscape. The sky is a mix of light blue and green, suggesting a misty or overcast day. The ground is a warm, golden-brown color, with some darker brown patches. In the upper right corner, a red woolly hat with a yellow band is visible, with several long, red, woolly strands hanging down. In the lower right corner, there are a few small, brown, leaf-like shapes scattered on the ground.

In Wellington boots
and woolies so snug,
her icy breath floats,
like choo choo trains chug.

A song has been swirling
this wintery day.
She's list'ning and list'ning.
What do the winds say?

Hoo wisha wooz
Hoo wisha weez
She hears a soft voice
in this whistling breeze.

Her feet strum the ground
and up, up they fling
old leaves that are lying under her swing.

Rustle and whoosh
Rustle and crisp
Like papery tongues,
they flutter and lisp.
