

How much, how much, are you worth, precious boy?
How much is a little boy worth?

More than the stars and the moon in the sky,
More than the sun up above,

A night scene with a large orange tent in the foreground. A brown dog is lying on the grass in front of the tent. In the background, there are mountains, a forest of evergreen trees, and a small house with a red roof and lit windows. The sky is dark blue with a few stars and a shooting star.

More than all the incredible things in this world,
It is you that I treasure and love.